

Serial No. 10/676,335

THE ABSTRACT

The invention relates to a process for production of paper from an aqueous suspension containing cellulosic fibres, and optionally fillers, which comprises adding to the suspension a cationised polysaccharide product comprising a polysaccharide having at least one first substituent having an aromatic group, and at least one second substituent having no aromatic group, forming and draining the suspension on a wire.